

Megan Mosier

Author Bio

Deep in the city of Memphis, there lives a wild storyteller with her two cats and her snake. Megan Mosier started writing and illustrating odd tales about alien wolves in her fifth grade classroom, and as time went on, she never stopped. She has continued to hone her skills throughout the years by creating comics and telling stories through RPGs. Her master's degree in biology serves a dual purpose, as she can now accurately describe the biology of her alien wolves in her writing as well as teach college students how to apply the scientific method.

Book Bio

Gretchen Hollander's life is not going the way she planned. She's a year out of college, has no friends, and can't pass the test to get into veterinary school. It seems that everyone else is miles ahead of her, and she's stuck being just Gretchen. However, when her mysterious Great Aunt Elsie passes away, she suddenly finds herself the owner of a small llama farm. Hildegard Farm is everything one would expect of a farm... Except the llamas... They talk.

The llamas warn Gretchen of an imminent alien invasion that will devastate the countryside. As secrets about her Great Aunt's past begin to unravel, the invasion approaches. Gretchen must decide whether to retreat to the safety of her old life, or to step forward into the unknown. Does she have what it takes to fight back against an enemy from beyond the stars?
