

ABOUT ME

Akassia (uh-cage-sh-uh) Alexandria

Akassia is currently in her senior year majoring in Biology with her plethora of minors. She graduated from Raleigh-Egypt High, where she then went directly into the military. When she's not studying, she is reading a good book, at the gym, volunteering with Literacy Mid-South, longboarding, or binge-watching anime.

ABOUT
THE BOOK

A BLACK MAN AND A RACIST WALK INTO A BAR

AKASSIA ALEXANDRIA

Don't let the title scare you! In this debut book, Akassia talks you through firsthand experiences at various points of her life through various poems, drawings, and prose. She covers topics from pop culture, encounters, and feelings arising from our ever so fluctuating political climate. This isn't a book of hate—more like a diary dump. A Black Man and A Racist Walk Into a Bar feels more like a conversation between close friends that comes with humor, sadness, fear and every emotion inbetween.
