

ANGIE O'REILLY

Angie fell in love with storytelling on the back porch swing as a child, listening to her older sister bring the worlds of books to life. Those cherished moments sparked a lifelong passion for creating stories and the fantastical worlds they inhabit.

She lives in North Mississippi with her wonderful husband and their cat, who insists on approving every chapter. Her stories blend the enchantment of fairy tales with contemporary heart, where love and magic intertwine, much like the hearts of dreamers who dare to believe in both. Her debut novel, The Lady of Teansong embodies the spirit of hope and a love that defies all odds.
