Debra D. Rich

Debra D. Rich is the author of Black Inventors Who Changed History 1800s-1900s. When the Covid-19 virus hit in 2020, that became the perfect opportunity for her to fulfill her dreams of becoming an author. She gathered all the information she had saved for over 25 years, found a publisher and is excited to share with you some of America's Greatest Black Inventors. Debra is actively involved in her community, acting as role model for young people through organizations such as Girls Inc, Youth Villages and the Academy for Youth Empowerment. She is a Veteran of the United States Air Force and is a licensed cosmetologist with over 30 years of experience. She has been married for 40 years and has two children, April and Bobby and two beautiful granddaughters Khoi and Riyan. Book Bio

African American scholar and historian Lerone Bennett Jr. once said, "If our children are to make history, they must first know their own history." Deeply inspired by this sentiment, In Black Inventors Who Changed History 1800-1900s, Debra D. Rich set out to chronicle the lives of groundbreaking black inventors who have helped shape the world but who receive little credit or fame. With great talent and an unbreakable spirit, these African Americans overcame prejudice, poverty, violence, and hatred to create inventions we still use today. Finally, their stories must be told. Black History IS American History.
