EPIC FANTASY - ROMANTASY - FAIRY TALES

Adeline always dreamed of marrying Bastian, the prince she rescued when they were only children. But when his brother is slain by a dragon, Bastian becomes heir to the throne—and is promised to the daughter of a powerful witch in exchange for the dragon's destruction. But when he refuses his new engagement, he's punished with a curse and transformed into a lowly earthworm. Now, to save her homeland and break Bastian's curse, Adeline must embark on a quest to solve the witch's challenges and face the ultimate sacrifice to prove her unwavering love.

Beth Alvarez is a multi-award-winning and Nebula-nominated author of epic fantasy, romantic fantasy, and fairy tales. When not writing, she enjoys drawing, playing video games, cruising in her beloved Mustang, and sewing for her unusual collection of Asian ball-jointed dolls. She resides in the suburbs of Memphis, Tennessee with her husband, daughter, and a very mean cat.
